

Charles Yaney

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER, AHN

Mr. Yaney has over 30 years of healthcare finance and operations experience, helping healthcare providers improve their financial performance, implement broad improvement programs, formulate strategies, and streamline operations.

Prior to working at AltaMed Health Network, he was a Partner at Provencio Advisory Services and a Senior Manager at Capgemini Ernst and Young in their Healthcare Strategy and Transformation practice. Additionally, Mr. Yaney developed project management skills as an experienced manager with Arthur Andersen's Healthcare Operational Consulting practice and a principal with APM Management Consultants/CSC Healthcare. In these roles, Mr. Yaney worked with numerous Medicaid, Medicare Advantage and commercial health plans and health systems.

Mr. Yaney has broad financial expertise in developing financial models of proposed clinically integrated organizations, accountable care organizations, mergers and other joint ventures and transactions. These analyses have focused on the reimbursement impacts of new managed care products and contracts, analyzing operational efficiencies, and developing operational performance improvement initiatives. His experience includes working with health plans, health systems, PCPs and specialist physicians to create value based and accountable care organizations including creating financial pro formas, developing infrastructure requirements, and supporting contracting structures and processes.

Mr. Yaney received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from University of California at Los Angeles and his Masters in Business Administration/Masters in Public & Private Administration from Yale University School of Management. Charles is a Certified Public Accountant licensed in California and is a member of the AICPA.